EASTERN DATES TO SEPT 19

EASTERN STATES.

A Commotion in Wall Street

NEW YORK Sept 19—The excitement in Wall street this morning was alarming The Germans held on tenaciously to the Erie corner and Jim Smith Gould party were eager for another fray They had calculated on the condition of the importing interest and found the necessity for gold brought down some of the heaviest importers in the city They had estimated the resources of the Treasury Department and felt certain it could not come to the relief of the street There came indications that the Treasury Department would not remain passive At noon offerings of bonds opened at the Treasury were found to be for an amount of nearly $5 000 000 at 112@112 with more than usual promptitude The announcement was made that the Secretary would take three millions instead of one million as advertised This would indicate that the Secretary intends and is prepared to sell more than the advertised amount of gold to morrow, and thus aid in breaking up the gold corner The effect of these tactics was felt in the Gold Exchange where prices suddenly fell to 112⅜ the lowest day The rate for coin dropped to one sixteenth per cent against three quarters per cent this morning and gold operators breathed freely Nothing more than a shinning fight could be kept up in the money market

She said he wore a goatee Counselor Howe of the defense, solemnly asserts that Forrester has never worn any beard since his arrest The examination adjourned till Monday to allow for the production of clothing which he is alleged to have worn on the night of the murder

FELLED FORESTS BY ELECTRICITY.—Among the recent discoveries of science in a process for cutting wood by passing a galvanic current over a platina wire in sufficient quantity to raise its temperature to a red heat The inventor or discoverer Dr George Robinson found that gently pushing a piece of wood against a red hot platina wire especially when aided by a slight sawing movement the wood was divided in any required direction and by a handsaw and of course without any effort of skill or appreciable expenditure of muscular power The Scientific American says By arranging the wire with handles or other means so as to guide it readily the lumber whether in trees logs or planks may be cut easily as desired The Kern county Courier says If the mammoth trees that grow on the upper waters of the Kern river could be utilized the inconvenience of an inadequate supply of lumber would never be felt in this valley In some trees hundreds of which may often be found crowded together in sheltered valleys along the stream will average not far from thirty feet in diameter and, of course with our present appliances for the purposes are little to fell If the Scientific American's statement is true electricity may be employed to fell trees divide them into logs and in short to perform all the operations of the saw and ax The surface of the wood where thus divided is of course slightly charred but the black layer is thin and for many purposes is not objectionable as it is known to preserve timber The battery employed need only be of the simplest character as quantity and not intensity of current is required

Destroying the Party

According to the Statesman if a man expresses the least unwillingness to indorse all the disreputable means which have been resorted to for the purpose of securing the election of Mr Mitchell to the Senate from the corruption intimidation and fraudulent voting by which the Multnomah primaries were carried to the threats deceptions falsehood and even worse, by which members of the Legislature are to be forced nolens volens into a caucus contrary to all Republican usage and in flagrant disregard of the known wishes of a large majority of their constituents he is engaged in an attempt to destroy the Republican party To drive honest citizens who never voted anything but a Republican ticket away from their own primaries with menaces and bludgeons—forcibly to seize the polls at Republican primaries and place them in the control of an irresponsible rabble, two thirds of whom are Democrats and one third non residents of the county—to buy votes at the primaries in the most open and shameless manner because there is no law upon the statute book to punish such conduct—to enter into caucus, and then, disappointed by its action, to refuse to abide by it, in defiance of the established usages of all political parties —these things, forsooth, are not only highly commendable in themselves, but strictly consistent with the faith and practice of the Republican party! He who secures a representation in the Legislature by such means, is worthy of all praise, and should be rewarded for his services to the party, with a seat in the United States Senate and that, too, when it is well known that a majority of the voters of his party in every county in the State, a majority of more than two-thirds in most of the counties, prefer another man

We have no ill will toward Mr Mitchell, and would not willingly do him injustice Independently of a sense of the irreparable injury done to the Republican party by the use of such means as have given him some of the support he has in the Legislature, he is not the man we should select to attend to the interests of Oregon in the United States Senate just at this time, but in saying this we desire not to be understood as unfriendly to what ever personal advancement he may seek in legitimate ways His relations to vast private interests which may at any time become antagonistic to the development of the resources of our young State, and to our prosperity as a community, are an objection which, it would seem, ought to turn the scale against him, so long as there are other aspirants, as at present who have at least equal claims politically and are equally eligible in every other way and who are free from such entanglement with private interests

But after all, we apprehend the chief objection in the community—that which has excited such general opposition to Mr Mitchell as prevails even among those who have no very strong feelings in favor of any other candidate in particular—is the instruments he has always adopted to accomplish his political purposes and the way in which he has used them Politicians have never been able to bring the intelligent respectable and patriotic people of a party to admit even the exigencies of the party itself as a justification for throttling whole communities much less can the ambition of one man furnish excuse Those who attempt to force the Republican party to indorse such a course of procedure, are its most dangerous enemies

A Good Joke —The Statesman is evidently bent on having a little fun at the expense of the ring candidate for the Senate In yesterday's issue of that paper, the editor "plays argue,"—as the children would say—to the extent of half a column or more, to show that it could not be reasonably inferred from the facts which we have given in connection with the caucus of 1866, that Mr Mitchell was instrumental in preventing the election of Gov. Gibbs after his nomination in that caucus The more he argues, the more he does not prove anything one way or the other, till at last he comes to where the clincher is to be put, when he proceeds to perform that operation in the most ceremonious manner, by producing a letter written by Mr Mitchell himself, for publication, on September 24th, 1866, in the midst of the excitement, in which that gentleman said, unequivocally, that he was acting in good faith—indeed, repeated it over and over in several different forms and thereupon the Statesman declares this to be stronger evidence than all the rest, of the good faith of Mr Mitchell, because "it is matter of record As a joke this is good. Mr Mitchell, in 1866 under the strongest possible inducements and when it would have been ruinous to him to have said otherwise and we do not intimate that he would have said otherwise if situated differently—said in writing that he was acting in the utmost good faith, and now in 1872 Mr Mitchell proves that he was so acting by showing that he then said so How is that for evidence?

The editor of the Statesman whoever that person may be, has concluded to read out of the Republican party all who do not approve of the unprecedented course pursued by the anything-to-beat-Corbett crowd at Salem He will read out about all the Republicans now in Portland,—the fugiemen, thimble riggers, blowers and shoulder strikers of the ring being absent at Salem and from all accounts he will have a remarkably thin audience left in any part of the State at the close of his reading He evidently has an idea of reading the party itself out, as the class he is performing on embraces a majority of the Republican State Central Committee including the Chairman a part of the Republican candidates for Electors and two thirds of the Republican State and County officers This is generally regarded as one of the most masterly elocutionary feats of he age laying Horace Greeley and George Francis Train completely in the shade

We hear some inquiry as to who the Statesman will put into the Federal offices from which it is going to remove the present incumbents because they refuse to countenance the peculiar means resorted to to make Mr Mitchell Senator We have no definite information on the subject but the character if not the names of the proposed appointees may be inferred from the recent removal of Dr Watkins from the position of surgeon to the County Hospital of Multnomah county to make room for a person to whose appointment the least objection was that he was fresh from a triumph in a local election won by the aid of a Democratic mob over a regular and unexceptionable Republican and who received this appointment as surgeon as the reward for such political services as few men would consent to perform In the language of the Statesman we can be specific if required

Up to nine o clock last night the attempt to force a caucus was a failure A dispatch from Salem announced that at that hour the drivers were around hunting up absent members The number in the meeting stood just as heretofore with no prospect of its getting access

The Republicans will elect State and County officers and Congressmen in Indiana Iowa Nebraska Ohio and Pennsylvania and a Delegate to Congress in Dakota on the 8th of October We have no idea when the Greeleyites will hold an election.

The Beauty of a Caucus

SALEM Sept 19 1872

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

A history of the caucus of six years ago may not be uninteresting to our readers We should not relate the incidents connected with the caucus of 1866 were it not for the unjust and indefensible attacks of the Mitchell organ at Salem The history of that transaction, as related by one of the ring—a ring of about seventeen—is as follows After the caucus and on the same evening that Mitchell was defeated they assembled with Mr Mitchell and it was there agreed and determined that they would not under any circumstances support Mr Gibbs After this, heavy pressure having been made upon some of the seventeen it was thought best that all but about five should seem to join their support to Gibbs but in case any of the five should weaken some one or more should step into the breach Mr Mitchell continued to encourage this in their private meetings believing that he could yet be elected until about the time when all or within one of all the Republicans signed an agreement to vote for Mr Corbett After this Mr Mitchell had no interest in the contest and was willing that his friends should take their own course And it may not be amiss here to state that the letter copied into the Statesman of the 19th instant from the issue of September 24, 1866 was submitted to the secret caucus of the seventeen and was intended as a plaster for the outside to keep his record good If this be true—and we have no good reason to doubt it—in fact, if necessary, we believe affidavits can be produced to substantiate the facts—what a charming thing is the caucus system! Such good faith, such perfect confidence, exists for a man inside the ring

FAIR PLAY

The Farmers of France

The success of the subscription to the new loan in France has not ceased to excite the wonder of the world Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the transaction is the fact that of the prodigious total offered, thirty four hundred millions of dollars, more than forty per cent of the whole sum was contributed by the French people themselves that is to say upwards of twenty six hundred millions of dollars were subscribed in Paris, and nearly seven hundred millions, in the departments and Algeria And this extraordinary movement on the part of the money holders of France was not based merely upon an impulsive or a speculative confidence in a conservative republic or in the present government of M Thiers, although the effect of the great success must be to inspire confidence in the one and to consolidate the other There is a more solid and sure basis of prosperity in the buoyancy, industry and uncommon activity of the people of France including the peasantry

The energy of the rural population, in recovering the position which they lost in the fatal struggle with Prussia, is no less wonderful than the faith exhibited by the capitalists in the reconstruction of the financial condition of the country It is well known that almost utter devastation followed in the train of the Prussian armies in the late invasion It has been estimated that at least one fifth of the land of France was thrown out of cultivation, the crops being seized by the victorious Prussians, while green and unripe, for the support of their cavalry horses, and when ripe for the consumption of their soldiers, and that the homesteads of the farmers were burned or otherwise destroyed whenever they stood in the way of military manœuvres, the granaries being first despoiled of their stores

Since the return of peace, in an incredibly short time a breadth of land has been put under crop, which, when harvested, has proved quite sufficient for the wants of the population It was estimated that the country would require an importation of wheat for the present season of at least seventy five millions of bushels Recent statements of the imports and exports will not exceed half of that sum and that in respect to other grains the exports will in the aggregate, be five times the amount of the imports, a surplus of ten per cent at least being supplied from the home crops

France is peculiarly an agricultural country The climate, partaking of that of the North and the South, favors the cultivation of plants both of the colder and of the warmer regions and there is no country where husbandry has been better protected A very lively interest is now felt in the country in the promotion of practical improvement in husbandry Agricultural schools and veterinary colleges are multiplied, and the return of peace if its blessings are duly appreciated and maintained cannot fail greatly to encourage the application of capital and skill to the improvement of that art which furnishes the staff of life No nation, not even our own, is more dependent upon the industry of its rural population than is France and the result of the present emergency has shown that its agricultural interest is a reliable power for it is impossible not to see that the remarkable recuperative energy thus exhibited by the farmers has exerted a controlling influence in the re-establishment of the financial credit of the country The lesson would be an instructive one to our own people, if the experience of the last few years had not taught us that even so vast a war debt as that of the United States or of France is but a feeble obstacle to the progress of a country of unbounded agricultural resources and a people of indomitable activity

But France, with all her losses and sufferings and deprivation is still rich —rich not only in an enterprising light hearted and industrious population, in a genial climate in a fertile soil, in systems of irrigation in arrangements for developing agricultural wealth and in all that constitutes a land of promise but in public works and accumulated materials of prosperity In all that a new country has to create or an old country to acquire for the purposes of public enrichment France is rich beyond description In maritime military and national and departmental domains, rivers canals, imperial roads and railways public buildings and institutions of utility and philanthropy and cathedrals and palaces and museums—in the latter class of property excelling the possessions of any country in the world, with the exception of Italy alone —she is necessarily wealthy It is not a mere figure of speech to say that Uncle Sam is rich With our domains and public establishments and materials of wealth and strength and our natural resources and inherent powers of development a national debt of two thousand millions is simply what a distinguished statesman once described as a "blessing" So of France with a debt of twice the amount of our own it has been truly said that with her soil her genius and her forty millions of Frenchmen she may be distressed but she can never be ruined —London Spectator

At a clambake at Rye beach New Hampshire Mr Greeley was called upon for a speech and among other things said "Although at variance on the main important questions of the country we find ourselves in perfect accord on the subject of clams"

Yes said an old farmer as he looked up from his chowder We can go clams together but I'll be hanged if we can agree on crow

The Commercial (Utah) are growling because the Evanston Coal Company is selling coal in San Francisco at $9 in Salt Lake at $8 and charging them $12 per ton

FROM THE CAPITAL

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

SALEM September 19 1872

I guess our honorable Legislatures statutes and Senators and their concomitant followers of the other House are stirred up just something more striking than the deeds and words of the past twenty four hours your correspondent proposes to make copious extracts from House Journal What I know about farming, and other light romances in order to fill up the regular space The difficulty is that the legislators go about their business in such a plain way that there is little of the sensational about it while the outsiders proceed so mysteriously that it is difficult to divine what they are about We are constantly told that some great achievement is about to be made public and as constantly disappointed In that line there is absolutely nothing to report to day

Several good laws have been proposed and it is a wonder how we have all managed to get along in this country at all with our statute books so meager and lacking so many provisions which are now essential Seventy one members have as many dozen amendments and enactments each of which is of vital importance

Among the measures which really promise to effect some good is a bill providing that divorces cases shall be tried as actions at law the evidence to be taken in open court and the questions of fact to be decided by a jury

Mr Corwin of Tillamook proposes to abolish the Grand Jury system This is a bold step and is too great an innovation on the customs which have come down from antiquity to succeed at the first trial, but the attempt will draw out discussion and attract attention to the great expense of this cumbrous machinery of justice and will eventually induce people to decide whether it brings with it compensating benefits for the cost and trouble of the system

Simpson of Benton proposes that regular physicians and their students may obtain from public officers the dead bodies of such persons as are to be buried at public expense unless the person before dying, expresses his objection, or unless some relation or friend applies for the body to be buried at his own expense The physician is to use the corpse for scientific purposes in such a manner as not to shock public feeling and to inter the remains in a public cemetery at his own expense This measure is a stroke of economy and at the same time encourages scientific research and discourages the disgraceful scenes which too often occur when subjects for dissection can only be obtained surreptitiously

Patton of Marion introduced a bill to appropriate $100,000 for a State building at Salem—$50 000 from the general funds and $50,000 from the State Bounty fund Three Commissioners are to be elected to proceed immediately with the work

Internal improvement schemes are plentiful Every section of the state wants a road or a canal, or ditch or wants a river cleaned out or a lock built, or something of the kind I should like to see it all done but don't see where the funds are to come from

A good deal is said about a plan to induce immigration, and it is more than likely that an appropriation will be made Certainly, if properly applied a small sum would advance our prosperity more in that way than in any other way as yet proposed

The House rescinded the unfavorable action of the last House in regard to the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution of the United States but there is little chance of any such thing being done in the Senate In fact that body is too well balanced to admit of any political legislation on either side and this suggests the idea that it may be better for the people to have things that way

Festivity and Self Immolation

A correspondent of the London Times writes from Calcutta

There has been a sad ending this year to the Juggernaut Festival at Serampore As many of your readers know there are three great days of the festival which extends over a fortnight and is filled up in the main with ample amusements The first day is devoted to bathing the god in the holy Ganges water Next his huge car is drawn out from his temple to that of a brother god whom Juggernaut is supposed to visit yearly and remain with a week There are now two cars in Serampore the large original one, 30 feet high, and a smaller, which has been set up as a rival The large car this year was moved triumphantly and taken to the appointed place the smaller one could not be moved probably because the greater part of the people were at the larger Yesterday was the return day and in the evening the large car was again drawn successfully watched by a station magistrate and the few police of the place The smaller car unfortunately was deemed by the authorities a fixture and in any case was in the place where it was wanted Each car has four strong ropes attached one at each front angle and two inside At these ropes as many as a thousand people pull at one time and as the great object with every one is to touch the rope and one person gives way to another many thousands are privileged to pull the god during his journey On this last day of the festival one more attempt was resolved upon for the purpose of making the smaller car to at least move, and unhappily, the attempt was successful and in a moment two of the men nearest the car were under the wheels One was literally cut in two the other a thigh was crushed nearly off and there is little hope of his recovery

At first the report went abroad that the disasters were cases of self immolation but I am glad to say that this was not so They were pure accidents arising from the pressure and excitement of the crowd when the car moved Identical surgeon of the Station Dr Greene informed me that the wounded man for a long time after being taken to the hospital called loudly on the god What have I done that you should punish me and he asked for and drank gin so that he could not be a fit subject for a Hindoo sacrifice The deputy magistrate also who saw the whole transaction says that there was nothing in it at all like self immolation I am sure the religious societies in England who take so much interest in Juggernaut will be glad to hear this Indeed I believe there never again can be self immolation on any considerable scale in India The priests find it as paying a the whole craft in danger

Besides some of them are too intelligent now to believe in it One of the younger priests of the car where the accident occurred is secretary of a literary society at which all manner of questions are discussed and owns and superintends altogether apart from his ordinary work a female school which is visited by the wife of a missionary And this is not an isolated case Of course, there will be sacrificial suicides and religious fanatics for a long time to come but I am glad to say this was not of that class There would seldom be either a suicide or an accident at the Juggernaut Festival if a strong body of police was posted at the car The people are like a flock of sheep when the police are in question Here only the few police of the station were engaged to more handful among thousands of human beings are in process of life for and a of the roads and fields

Curious Reasons An Arkansas paper will not support a certain candidate for the following reasons

He was caught stealing a corn hill

He stole $5 000 from the State

He stole a slat roof off the State House

He is the most selfish unscrupulous and unprincipled man in the whole State

He is a hypocrite loving to feast on the fruit of the grave

He is capable of any villainy

He is a trickster and a thief in office

The people have no good to expect from him

His heart is black with sin and his soul is steeped in corruption

FRIDAY MORNING SEPT 29 1872

County Business — The County Court has concluded the examination of the assessment rolls and extended the time for making the required number of copies to the last of October The aggregate valuation will approximate to $3 000 000 There being no further improvements in buildings projected for the ensuing year it is expected the amount to be estimated for the coming year is to be raised by taxation will be much less than was required last year The expenses of the county and that portion of State revenue now counted will demand a rate which may be sufficient to raise from $9 000 to $10 000 a large part of which is imposed on us for the trial and support of criminals The present law for this purpose was evidently designed for an agricultural region of few people and like a good many other laws on our statute books are unsuited to the wants of this city The whole system of taxation and fees of officers, and the number thereof should be revised and amended and must be so give this county any relief from present burdens We are running here two local governments with full corps of officers for each and each assessing and collecting taxes, on separate assessments on nearly the same property and expending it for similar if not identical objects There are defects in the jurisdiction and organization of the courts which entail enormous expenses Similar causes in all the cities have compelled a simpler and more effective government for each Here are two nominal cities existing with corporate powers and all the official machinery of New York and Chicago The people are under two Governments while one properly administered would better subserve peace economy and general content There are other objects upon which could be expended the public revenues, such as Houses of Correction and Reformation, Hospitals for different classes of suffering humanity native and foreign permanent and transient old and young We have means enough to accomplish much in this way which would reflect more honor upon Portland than will be attracted by her piles of merchandise, buildings manufactures and her railroads however grand and magnificent these now appear to be But all the individual wealth here will do little in the right direction unless it be concentrated and directed by a wise and humane local government

Fall Weather — In the Eastern states people are rejoicing that the excessive heats of summer are past, and that Autumn with its bracing days and chilly nights has again returned Already on the Atlantic slope the air is becoming crisp and frosty cool while in some of the surrounding higher altitudes the visits of slight frost are noticed. In consequence, business has resumed its accustomed channels The hotels are recovering the pleasure runaways the theaters are getting in readiness to open the fall season while the numerous watering places are being rapidly depopulated But the most pleasant feature of the picture is the marked decrease in the mortuary reports Our own weather here has, within the last few weeks presented indications of improvement The past summer has brought with it the usual complement of excessive heat But we note one rather singular fact While persons were dying daily by scores in the Eastern and Western states from the effects of sunstroke, not a case of a stroke was reported in the State this season, although a comparison of the average temperatures would disclose little if any difference in the two sections During the most exhaustive heat of the past few months the mercury has maintained an altitude scarcely less than in other portions of the Union Men have pursued the wonted avocations uninterruptedly and without much seeming inconvenience The heat of Oregon summer is probably as excessive as any portion of the Atlantic seaboard occupying the same parallels of latitude Every season almost hundreds of cases of sunstroke are reported east of the Mississippi while there has probably not been more than a dozen cases where persons have ever died in this State from the effects of heat The weather here has been quite warm for the last few weeks but withal rather pleasant The usual sweltering heat of mid summer has been relieved by a refreshing northern breeze, an occasional shower and neutralized by the agreeable chill of September nights As to the sanitary condition of the city, it has seldom been better—all of which we record with no small degree of satisfaction

Send us a Hundred — A man at Carson Nevada, has invented a 'Hoodlum and Bummer Detector,' which must prove immensely repulsive to the manufacturer and useful to the public at large Our city should have at least a dozen We copy a description of this wonderful invention from the Carson News Daily Appeal "This invention is called the 'Hoodlum and Bummer Indicator' The instrument is placed on the sidewalk in front of a bit saloon or other lunch is better and the operator stands by working the indicator Upon the approach of one of these people the indicator instantly swings around and points to the person with never failing accuracy, at the same time stops him and puts a private mark on him for future use It also has an original arrangement for counting them to know the exact number in a town or city This wonderful piece of human and divine mechanism is the production of one of our own citizens—a man who might be taken for Greeley on the streets but is not him for he is only common soul while this man is more than human His name we suppress for the present until his patent is secured and for personal considerations The Mayor of San Francisco has offered a million dollars for one for the city, and he has kindly tendered the use of one to Carson during the next Legislature as an assistant to the Sheriff and to benefit his own home New York City has refused to have one for fear of implicating all the city officials"

Not so Green — After all, Yamhill chaps are not so green We have just heard of a practical joke which was played a few days ago by one from that section, on a druggist in this city A Hill rode up to the counter in one of the down town stores, and inquired if they kept soda water for sale The accommodating clerk responded affirmatively Then give me a glass' said Hill It was done He drained the glass and smacking his lips asked the clerk if he was going to take the last cent a poor fellow had to pay for the beverage The clerk smilingly said "yes, to be sure, sir" Yamhill dived his brawny hand into his trowsers pocket, and after fumbling a moment drew out a copper cent piece and he deposited on the counter and remarked that that was the last cent he had The smile quickly vanished from the clerk's face He looked blank and frowned a frown But it was no use, Yamhill had beaten him fairly He knew it now and blandly remarked that it was a "good treat." Yamhill had treated before and "don't he played for a card or no

Lost or Not — The people of San Francisco are apprehensive at present as to the fate of the noted pulsator Fortunato Arriola long a resident of that city It is feared the he was a passenger on board the ill fated steamer Pacific on route for Aspinwall from New York which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago Arriola is an Italian painter of great merit He has a wife and six children in San Francisco who are painfully anxious in his probable fearful fate One of the finest pieces of conception by this gifted artist is a magnificent scene on the Columbia river, painted by him several years ago This production of his brush can be seen at one of the principal saloons of this city It is an oil painting, and cost when fresh from the artist's hands one hundred dollars

Stock Raising — A resident of Carter's Add: from whom we ask to say that it may be interesting to persons who intend to go into the business of stock raising East of the mountains to know that there is a field for them nearer home, in fact within the limits of the city of Portland with unlimited range in the mountains in the rear of the city and with the advantage of a market at their door it may be worth while to enquire into the matter before migrating In Carter's Addition there are now about 20 head of cows and arrangements being made for stabling more and indeed carrying on a large dairy business The keeping of stock in what is fast becoming a populous neighborhood may be profitable to the owners but very annoying to the tax payers who reside in that neighborhood.

Latitude Lost — The Oakland Daily News published the following jerspacious item The readers of that sheet probably understand what is meant by the editor but the people at a loss to say would be somewhat at a loss to comprehend without hazard He says "Oakland and Alameda are head of Big Seakonm Bay Oregon and railroad communications and just now is causing great pretensions to importance Diluted beer he was what was the difficulty The editor's brain was clear enough, but the paragraph wasn't

O M Harvey — There is a dispatch in the Western Union Telegraph office for the above named person uncalled for

Handsome Prize — A handsome gift has been manufactured in this city by a jewelry firm which will be contested for at the target excursion by the Washington Guard at Cornelius today It represents a silver cartridge box and knapsack The small cartridge box is on ice and has roses' bed on a gold plate the letters O S M On the blanket roll of the knapsack is a small gold scroll inscribed First prize—won by ... the knapsack proper is the Company's monogram engraved The buckles are of gold Two arms of gold cross the cartridge box

Severe Fall — Mr Hogan of this city a marble polisher met with a severe accident yesterday morning He was assisting in placing a large block of stone on a wagon at the Clackamas quarry One corner of the stone was resting on his shoulder and in lifting the block tipped over onto the wagon Mr Hogan's head was caught between two stones and seriously bruised A gash was cut in the side of his neck and also on his cheek He was brought to this city and Dr Chapman summoned The injuries are severe but are not regarded as dangerous

Went Over — Portland No 1 ferry boat left the city yesterday morning at an early hour for Vancouver The object of the visit was to convey a funeral procession across the Columbia to the Southern side A Mrs Swinster died at Vancouver a few days ago and the desire was to inter the remains near Columbia Slough in the family burying ground Not being able to procure a ferry boat of sufficient dimensions to convey the procession over the river the boat at this place was sent for

Narrow Escape — The car shops of the Oregon and California Railroad Co very narrowly escaped a general conflagration a few days since The timber near them has been on fire for some time past, and a strong wind setting in on Monday huge fire brands were scattered in every direction For a time it was thought the shops would certainly go and the danger was only averted by almost superhuman efforts of the men employed by the Company

Dislocated — A man named McConnell a farmer residing several miles from East Portland, had his shoulder dislocated last Wednesday morning At the time of the accident he was on his way to town While coming down a steep hill he suddenly checked his team In doing so he gave his arm a violent wrench which dislocated the limb at the shoulder He reached the city—with considerable difficulty and much pain The luxation was reduced by Dr Raffety and the man is able to be around again

Ember Season — In conformity with the suggestion of Bishop Morris address and of the recommendations of the Convocation there will be services in Trinity Church on Friday evening at 7 o'clock and Saturday morning at 11 Sept 20th and 21st There will be a sermon at the Friday evening service and the Holy Communion will be administered on Saturday morning (St Matthew's Day) Offerings will be made at each service, for the education of young men for the ministry

New Baptist Church — The members of the Baptist Church in East Portland hold weekly meetings at the new Odd Fellow's Hall every Tuesday evening So far the citizens of that place have responded quite liberally A considerable sum of money has been subscribed and work on the new church will soon be commenced

To Gaston — On and after Monday next daily trains on the West Side road will be run through to Gaston the new station and town above Cornelius No change of time is announced for leaving or returning and they will depart and arrive at the usual hours

For a New Church — We understand that a valuable lot was secured in Raleigh's Addition at the public sale on yesterday morning to be held a reasonable time, as the prospective site of a new M E Church in that portion of the city

Realized — J M Bacon of Oregon City realized the sum of $86 at the festival ball and concert held at that place last Thursday evening for his benefit.

AMUSEMENTS

Chas Vivian and troupe arrived in the city from The Dalles Wednesday evening Of the future movements of the company we are not apprised

A small but select crowd of ladies and gentlemen were present Thursday evening at the Armory Hall, on the occasion of the ball given under the auspices of the Red Men A pleasant time was experienced

The Crystal Palace Circus is now performing East of the mountains The company will probably return to this city about next Monday evening They are announced to give an exhibition in this city next Tuesday evening

The Washington Guard will give their annual target excursion to Cornelius to day The company and invited guests will take the cars early this morning and return on the evening train The East Portland Band will accompany the excursion and lend pleasure and animation to the occasion by discoursing some of their favorite strains

Cannot be Killed — There has been added to the list of impossibilities the killing of the photographic establishment of Joseph Buchtel by the presence of Mr F H Stolte as a partner with Mr Buchtel Mr Carl Rasch the former business continues to transfer photographic views to plates in a manner that meets with general approval Messrs Buchtel & Stolte have on exhibition daily at the old stand the Gallery Corbett's Building Fourth Street between Washington and Alder the finest display of work in that line ever presented to the citizens of Portland and the connected with the old reputation of the firm they produce the best effects in the art and quality could desire

Wheat in Liverpool 12s@13s 1

The steamer Ajax reached this port last evening from San Francisco She brought a large list of passengers and 84 tons of assorted freight

Rates of interest during the past week have been tightened which circumstance has somewhat surprised the money market One of the contributing causes is the operation of the usury law as a matter of relief to parties in need of money in our State While there is no time to draw capital to this coast there are grave doubts whether the absence of law on the subject of interest does not often tend to seriously affect and sometimes retard the permanent prosperity of the country Be it a further suggestion that the condition of the money market here is not an exception to the general state of financial affairs in many other parts of the world The relief looked for by business men in this special manner way and that is by the development of the resources of the country the establishment of cheaper lines of transportation and the more complete opening up of our connection with the markets of the world One important question at this time to the people of the Pacific coast centres, as well as to California, is that formulated by the Alta of San Francisco in an article in which the necessities of greater facilities for transportation at rates which will allow some margin for the buyer and producer The Alta says The tonnage supply is an important question at this moment to the farmers on the rising prices of Wheat in England now that the harvest is probably determined indicates that a market will exist for all the grain here much or little At the present moment Wheat at Id in Liverpool is equal to $3 20 @ 100 lbs and how much of that $3 20 the California farmer will receive will depend upon the rates of freight. The question of the extent of the crops here has not so much influence upon the price of Wheat as the question of freight since the cost of the latter must necessarily be deducted from the Liverpool price together with shipping charges before the purchasing basis of the exporter is determined In relation to the East crops a New York paper states Respecting the new crop of Wheat in the United States it is now definitely known that on the Atlantic seaboard the yield will be deficient as to quantity and still more deficient in quality while on the Pacific coast both the quantity and the quality will exceed the highest average The crops in the Atlantic States include as all respects with the crop of last year Grain, where it is now certain that the harvest will be both poor and late This will equal a heavy deficiency in the latter country and a pressing demand for choice dry Wheat to mix with the damp inferior proceeds of their own harvest The condition of the American harvest precludes us from furnishing from the Atlantic States at least, any considerable quantity of prime grain. These views in regard to the Eastern supplies may be more or less correct and it is possible may involve renewed shipments of Flour hence by rail as well as grain By the Isthmus The tonnage is, however the important question The number of vessels now on the way to this port, and which is all that can be expected up to February next, is as follows

	No Ves	No Ves	Tonnage
New York	29	26	43 80
Boston	2		3 014
Baltimore	2		6 418
Philadelphia		2	3 840
Brashear			9
Liverpool	8	8	21 668
Great Britain	3	8	7 04
North of Europe	6	6	3 4
France	6	10	7
Australia	1	1	19
China, etc	3	2	1 951
South America	2	2	6 034

This is the whole supply of tonnage both expected up to February for all purposes In 1869 when the largest export of Wheat took place at the highest rates of freight the supply of tonnage for the year was the largest ever known reaching 346 38 Of that amount only 83 per cent or 287 789 took Wheat the rest was required for California freights and other trades If of the 160 000 tons now on the way 75 per cent is taken for Wheat the quantity will be 120 000 tons or a capacity of 3,000 000 sacks but there are now loading 19 ,93 tons, which have already gone The position is then thus

Sacks of Wheat shipped	1 753 490
Sacks going into 19 390 tons on the berth	503 000
Sacks for 120 000 tons to arrive before Feb y	3 000 000
Total shipments to February sacks	5 253 490
As compared with 1869	1872 1869
Sacks shipped to Sept. 13	1 763 490 1 425 665
Shipped Sept. 13 to Oct. 1 in 19 tons	500 000 4 8 486
Shipped Oct 1 to Feb in 120 000 tons	3 000 000 1 999 056
Shipped Feb 1 to July 1 (estimated)	6 740 510 2 128 141
Total estimate 100 lb sks	12 000 000 5 9 1 348
Required tonnage	390 000 187 789

This is the supply of tonnage which circumstances make requisite It will be observed that the supply now on the way allowing 75 per cent of it for Grain, will take 60 per cent more Grain than in the great year 1869 But the question presents itself whether inland transportation will admit of the receipts of so much Grain by the time. If 8 000 000 sacks can be shipped up to next harvest, it will be observed that there will be a great excess upon the shipping It is to be remarked however that there are fourteen vessels of 10 116 tons on their way to Portland, and these vessels may afford some assistance

There is nothing remarkable in the general market either as to rates or transactions business being reported dull and dealers unwilling to make any advances on present prices Jobbers are in receipt of full stocks and do not come in but slowly though it is thought the average fall trade will be about as fair as expected Some drawback is experienced from the slowness of financial matters and the scarcity of coin a condition of affairs which is proving detrimental to many branches of business in all parts of the Pacific States this season but one from which a release is expected when the surplus products of the year find their way to the markets of the world, as they will surely do in the course of the autumn

There are now on the way from New York and Boston ladies with merchandise for San Francisco thirty three vessels twenty two of which exceed a thousand tons burthen each

Since the 1st of July 1872, fifty nine vessels have been dispatched from San Francisco for the United Kingdom with Wheat, against ten vessels during the same period last year They carried 1 53 490 centals valued at $2,918 080. There are now nineteen vessels on the berth at San Francisco with a tonnage of 18 4 0 tons, and still the great want is shipping facilities

The Commercial Herald, of San Francisco says Tonnage continues very scarce—far below our present pressing necessities for the removal of the Grain crops now crowding upon the market. Freights are plentiful even at the high rates prevailing, will every indication that high figures will continue to prevail for many months to come. Vessels are wanted for Coal Lumber etc and there is much outside business that might be put afloat to good advantage, were not sail craft of every size and description so scarce and difficult of attainment

Domestic Produce

FLOUR—During the past week shipments have been confined to small lots and no unusual demand has arisen A percep ible increase in rec pts is noted and the forward part of the new wheat crop having reached the manufacturers some hea for The home demand is active and jobbing lots are quot about as follows extra standard brands $ .5 choice country brands $4 60 to $5 25 ofer or brands $4 00 to $4 37½

WHEAT—Liverpool quotations are now 12s to 3s 2d with a slight shading off during the past week The San Francisco market presents but little activity owing to the still apparent probability of the scarcity of shipping to move the unusually large crop of the Pacific States No considerable change is noted in our market though a decided position on part of the producers is manifested in a greater degree than had been at our last report Late rains in that locality have done some damage both to that already stacked and to spring sown some of which was yet in the field The losses are estimated to one or three counties and the effect will be only to be visible upon the general average of the crop of the State Better harvesting and a greater show of willingness to put those on part of our dealers would do be seen tend somewhat in quantity thrown upon the market a very short one The quotations we give as below $1 40 per 00 lbs are for good lots and at the figure the demand is fair and the price firm The bulk of Marsilla has been sold at about ten cents below the figure quoted and will probably sell at the same early in July The Shipping and Navigation are receiving cargoes and this fact had created be only not little demand and that only temporary except for home consumption

OATS—A few shipments only have arrived during the week and though receipts are very light prices are firm at our quotations from $1 .0@$1 Theres demand at doubtless a large surplus of this crop in the country and the demand for be xce ent quality of Oregon raised will induce large exportations as has been the case with crops in more

POTATOES—The supply is abundant, and prices are receiving about 50c to $1 00 lbs delivered Much uncertainty exists in regard to the disease and condition of this crop, some asserting that the disease is the genuine potato rot, while others claim that it is some thing now and specific to the country According to one for a time on this blight, or whatever it is, has not been very severe, but nevertheless it would be well for some of our scientific agriculturists to give the matter a thorough investigation, and if possible determine to its nature and its a remedy fancy exists may be applied in the future

BARLEY—Is in good demand and prices are firmer than at last week's report. Good judging may be average of this season in Oregon the present has been for some reason smaller than for some years past The adaptation of our soil and climate to its production as well as the usual fair rates which it commands ought to be a sufficient inducement to farmers to make it one of the staple productions of the Willamette valley

WOOL—Receipts during a week past have been light and rates rule firm y at 20@22c for a fair quality of combing wools of course are high t ugh the receipts are not large spring shipments East are likely to turn out disastrously It is stated by one who knows that less than fifteen cents per pound will insure to shippers a over a million pounds sent to New York and Boston and which was purchased here last winter on the basis back at which the speculators buyers relie spring to sell at a profit.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA

The Republican Party of the United States in National Convention assembled, do hereby declare and appeal to history and the candid judgment of the people for the truth of the following statement and principles

1 During eleven years of supreme power in the Federal Government it has accomplished a series of beneficent measures for the general welfare of the people which have conferred unparalleled prosperity and happiness upon the United States and won the respect of all nations. It has suppressed by force of arms the only organized rebellion existing against any government in modern times, and has established universal freedom and equality before the law. It has raised the credit of the country from the lowest point to the highest, and has restored the currency from a state of disastrous fluctuation to the most perfect system known. It has lightened the burden of taxation while paying off the debt created by the war more than twice as rapidly as was deemed possible by the most sanguine financiers. It has developed the industry of the country to an unprecedented degree, and has greatly promoted the commerce of the nation by sea and land. It has paid off with honest money more than one half of the debt, and has reduced the annual interest charge nearly two thirds. It has established and maintained the national system of free schools. It has given to the country a currency absolutely good, and has created banking facilities which furnish to every section the capital required for its development. It has steadily decreased the public debt since the close of the war, and has initiated measures which will soon relieve the people from the remaining burden of internal taxation. It has organized a system which secures the payment of the interest on the public debt in the world's great commercial mart. It has paid the accumulated debt of the war, and has left the nation's credit so high that capital seeks its investment at lower rates than ever before in our history. These beneficent results have been mainly due to the policy and principles of the party now in power, and we point with confidence to the future for proof that the party which has conducted the country so successfully through the most tremendous crisis of its history is the party best entitled to the confidence of the people for the future administration of National affairs. It is the party of progress and reform, and is pledged to the work of progress and reform in the future as in the past. We believe that the people will not entrust the control of the National Government to any party whose platform and candidates are silent upon the most important questions which now engage the attention of the country, whose prominent members have been arraigned before the tribunals of the country for the basest frauds, and whose honest members have been unable to shield their political associates from just condemnation.

2 Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil political and public rights should be established and maintained throughout the United States by efficient and appropriate State and National legislation. No other law can be regarded as consistent with the letter and spirit of the recent amendments of the Constitution abolishing slavery, which does not provide adequate means for the complete protection by the Nation of all persons in their equal civil rights. Neither the power nor the duty of the National Government over this subject should be limited by any precedents or by any branch of argument derived from the conduct of the States lately in rebellion, but should be commensurate with the necessities of the case, wherever the rights of freedom and citizenship require protection. The power of the Nation ought to be sufficient to secure to all persons resident in every State the full and equal enjoyment of every right and privilege of a citizen of the United States. The duty of the Government to afford this protection to the humblest citizen, of whatever race or color, when his rights as a citizen of the United States or as an inhabitant of a Territory are denied or violated, is as imperative as its duty to protect the most powerful combinations of wealth. The power to enforce this duty is clearly established by the Constitution, and should be exercised promptly, fully and effectively whenever experience shows that it is necessary.

3 The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right not merely because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4 The National Government is bound to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty

5 Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are filled as rewards for mere party zeal is fatally demoralizing and we therefore favor a reform of the system by such laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for admission to and promotion in the public service

6 We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolists and demand that the National domain be set apart for the benefit of the people

7 The annual revenue, after paying current expenses, pensions, the interest on the public debt and a moderate sum for the reduction of the principal of the debt should be applied to such further reduction of the debt as may be deemed advisable, or to such reduction of taxation as will most fully relieve the industry of the country from the burden of unnecessary taxes, and we favor a system of direct taxation which will hereafter render unnecessary the present oppressive taxation upon the industry of the country

8 We hold that the payment of the just debt created by the war is a sacred obligation of honor, and we denounce all efforts to cripple or impair the credit of the Government, directly or indirectly, as a national crime. We hold that the payment of the bonds at the earliest practicable period is of vital importance, and we favor such legislation as will most effectually accomplish that object. We are opposed to any further issue of currency certificates by the Secretary of the Treasury, and we believe that the refunding of the national debt at lower rates of interest should be immediately effected by the Government, and the proper authorities should be invested with ample power for that purpose.

9 We hold that it is the duty of the Government, in its intercourse with foreign powers, to cherish the honor and dignity of the citizen, and to see that no wrong or indignity is offered to any citizen or any class of citizens, no matter where they may be found, whether at home or abroad, or whether native or naturalized, and that the Government of the United States should not only claim, but should enforce by all means authorized by the law of nations, the right of asylum for its citizens in foreign lands, including the right to be exempt from enforced military service of every description, except in the regular army or navy of the country to which they belong, and from taxation, or other civil burdens not equally imposed upon all persons of the same class in the country where they may reside.

10 The Republican party recognizes the fact that the people of the Territories have outgrown the present Territorial system, and we recommend the admission of Colorado as a State of the Union, and the immediate admission of New Mexico, Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Arizona as States when they have the requisite population, and we favor the admission of the Territories of Utah when she shall have a population sufficient to entitle her to one Representative in Congress, and when her people shall have established a State government republican in form and in harmony with the Constitution of the United States, provided that polygamy and other twin relics of barbarism be first prohibited and abolished.

11 Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor and the Republican party recognizes the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital and for labor which creates capital the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of those two great elements of civilization.

12 We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13 We denounce the repudiation of public debts in any form or disguise, as a national crime We will not pay one dollar in the reduction of the principal of that debt and of the rates of interest upon the balance and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment

14 The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom their application for admission to further gratuitous is received with satisfaction and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration

15 We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land

16 The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments It disapproves of asserting on petition at laws for the purpose of controlling by public sentiment with right and not amendments by the people to the State or National Governments

17 It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and shipbuilding

18 We believe that it is a moral and patriotic sentiment opposed to grinding individual monopoly and special privileges, to demand that the National Government shall exercise its constitutional power to secure the establishment of such international regulations as will secure the rights of neutrals during maritime wars, and has commended him to the best efforts of American people and we will trust him as we trust no other living statesman, that when he shall have completed the work of pacification which has been initiated by his administration, history will record his name as that of the second great champion of liberty and the Republic.
